Anti-War Demonstrators Blight Nixon Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war demonstrators, holding their own inauguration, have elevated Richard M. Nixon to the position of No. 1 target for their protests.

Even before taking the oath as the 37th President today, Nixon was made sharply aware of what life in the bull's-eye is going to be like.

Nixon masks and effigies were featured in a counter-inaugural parade by 5,000 demonstrators Sunday. Signs calling the new President criminal and the tool of billionaires bobbed in the throng as it moved along Pennsylvania Avenue in the opposite direction of Nixon's route to the White House.

The youthful marchers also blighted a reception for the new vice president, Spiro T. Agnew, at the Smithsonian Institution. They jeered arriving guests and threw stones and firecrackers at a few of them before mounted police drove the demonstrators from the entrance.

Objects Hurlled
Two policemen were injured by hurled objects but no guests were hurt and no injuries were reported among the demonstrators, who gave ground readily in the face of the police action.

Park police reported arresting five youths in the Smithsonian incident and the metropolitan police arrested 10 others during the parade. But for the most part, march leaders succeeded in their announced aim of keeping the demonstration peaceful and orderly.

An attempt by some demonstrators to haul down an American flag in front of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration building at the foot of Capitol Hill was thwarted by a small band of marchers who ringed the base of the flagpole and kept the others back.

What organization the demonstration had was furnished by David Dellinger, chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, and a veteran of the peace march on the Pentagon in 1967 and last summer's disorders at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

OK Parade
But the marchers were a widely disparate group of young people, mostly from eastern and midwestern states, who seemed united mainly in their youth and their opposition to the Vietnam War. Their signs proclaimed them champions of a dozen causes including women's rights, Biafran freedom, Greek democracy and the "liberation" of the South. "Damn Everything But the Girls," declared another.

The parade, authorized by the police, who shepherded it along on motorbikes, went largely unnoticed by Washingtonians. Few of the businesses along the route were open and the big government buildings lining one side of the street were empty.

Region Moves Nearer Goal Of Clean Water

Upper Peninsula communities made "significant improvements" in water and wastewater systems serving the public in 1968, it is reported by the Northern Peninsula office of the Michigan Department of Public Health, Escanaba.

A record 82 permits were issued by the Northern Peninsula office for improvement facilities, which represents a 22 per cent increase over permits issued the year before.

Highlighting the list of "most appreciated" improvements was the completion of a water system for the people of the village of Chatham, where ground water pollution cropped out in the early 1960's in the shallow wells of the area.

Now the village has a deep well and a 50,000 gallon elevated storage tank and water distribution system that serves the drinking water and fire protection needs of the people.

Study At Gladstone
The past year was notable in Gladstone for the passage by the voters of a general obligation bond issue to finance a water treatment plant, and engineers now designing the facility and construction is anticipated to begin in the spring.

Gladstone has also undertaken an engineering study of their wastewater treatment facilities and will be considering alternative methods of disposal. Authorization was also given by the Department of Health for a sewage pumping station modernization at Gladstone.

Other important improvements in the region last year were the start of fluoridation at Newberry; chlorinating at Lake Linden; wastewater stabilization lagoons were placed in operation at Wakefield and Crystal Falls; and Norway completed a new activated sludge wastewater treatment plant.

Nahma Project
Water storage and distribution systems at Sault Ste. Marie were improved, a sewage pumping station was completed at Ironwood, and other sewage treatment improvements were made at Gwinn, Munising, and in Ishpeming and Ely Townships.

Spending Of Millions On Iron River Plans Urged

The development of a 57-acre industrial area and the establishment of an airport-industrial park could create 3,750 jobs in Iron County, Michigan, according to a federally sponsored report released today.

"The Economic and Engineering Feasibility Study of Industrial Development in the West Side Region of Iron County, Michigan" was prepared for the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce by Williams & Works, consultants of Grand Rapids. It was requested by the West Side Regional Planning Commission of Iron River.

The commission is seeking to attract industry to the area to combat a 1967 unemployment rate of 10.8 per cent and to replace jobs lost because of the decline of mining in the area.

The report estimates cost of developing the industrial area in the western section of the city of Iron River at $169,000.

It suggests, that the cities of Iron River and Stambaugh consolidate their water systems to serve this and other industrial areas. The consolidation would require a 12-inch main to connect the systems and additional storage facilities, the report states. It estimates this cost at $210,000.

The Iron River industrial zone would provide industrial sites for firms that could employ 750 persons within five years, according to the report.

Establishment of an airport-industrial park east of Iron River near the intersection of U.S. 2 and the Amasa Road is suggested. These facilities, which would cost an estimated $2,816,000, would provide space for industrial firms that could employ 3,000 persons within 20 years, the report states.

Scouting Shows Regional Gains

A record year-end membership of 5,285 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers was announced today by Richard H. Showalter, Scout executive of the Hiawathaland Council, Boy Scouts of America. The Scouts belong to 162 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts throughout most of the Upper Peninsula and Florence County, Wis.

"Last year was a good year for the Hiawathaland Council," Showalter stated, "but 1969 will be even better as we move into 'Boypower '76.' Boypower '76 is the long-range expansion program of the Boy Scouts of America. The plan, launched Jan. 1, will continue to 1976, the 200th anniversary of the founding of our country.

"Boypower '76 objectives include making Scouting more relevant to the needs and concerns of the youth and the nation; increasing program quality; and expanding Scouting membership from one out of four to a representative one out of three boys; and extensive penetration of Scouting into every rata of American society," said Showalter.

Membership goals for the Hiawathaland Council will be 7370 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorer in 229 packs, troops, and posts.

The Hiawathaland Council will launch "Boypower '76" in the Upper Peninsula during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7-13. Boy Scout Week activities in this council will include: Cub Scout Blue & Gold banquet, Boy Scout parents night, Window and lobby displays, Scout Sunday observances and other special events at the boy level. Special leader recognition nights will be held in each District during February and March. The Council will formally adopt the 1976 goals in membership, trained leadership, and quality program at a meeting of the Council Executive Board on Feb. 20. Goals will also be adopted in terms of money needed to achieve the other objectives.

Among other highlights of 1969 will be the celebration of the Hiawathaland Council's 25th anniversary and the beginning of the final phase of development of the Council's new camp in Alger County. The camp will open its third season on July 6.

Scouting is supported through the various Community Chests and United Funds throughout the U.P. adn by the sustaining memberships of interested individuals.

Professors Add To Campus Ire

MARQUETTE — Dr. Edward Weidner, chancellor of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay, told the mid-year graduating class of Northern Michigan University Saturday that communities may have to share in governing universities if schools are to be relevant to society's problems.

"If we do not take action soon we seem destined for a kind of intellectual isolationism on the part of the university, a cultural parochialism on the part of the community, and an oppressive approach to ideas on the part of both," he said.

"Such an outcome is neither desirable nor inevitable," he said in envisioning what he termed a "communiversity."

Weidner said universities are "heavily to blame" for both campus and social unrest because too many faculty are concerned with only teaching and research.

Students, in turn, react negatively to the kind of education offered in universities because "they see faculty members as disinterested in the things that they feel are relevant."

Weidner said that if educators and students want to make curricula relevant to communities served by the university "we must facilitate the process by which community members play a part in the university as well.

He cautioned, however, that the community served by the university must also change if problems are to be solved.

"It is fruitless for a university to develop new plans of relevance or social involvement only to have the community be uninterested or antagonistic," Weidner said.

He said some institutions have "opened their doors" to new ethnic or racial groups only to have the community unprepared for these happenings.

Michigan Boy Returns Home; No Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Mark Kenyon, 14-year-old Michigan boy suffering from a serious heart ailment, leaves for home Monday without doctors here having been able to help him.

Members of Dr. Christian Barnard's Grootte Schuur hospital heart team told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kenyon, of Grand Rapids, Mich., that Mark was not strong enough to undergo surgery.

They advised the Kenyons to "buy him time" until it is possible to undergo open heart surgery.

Barnard himself did not see Mark as he is on a European tour.

MANISTIQUE School Board To Meet In Gulliver

The Manistique Area Board of Education will conduct their regular January meeting tomorrow night at the Doyle Township School in Gulliver.

This will be the first time the Area Board has taken their meeting to a township location and is being planned to enable persons in the out-lying areas to attend and familiarize themselves with board procedure and policy.

The meeting will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Agenda items include a report from the Board of Education grievance committee who met with local Michigan Education Association members on a "clarification grievance" filed by William Miller, a teacher at the Germfask School.

Miller had requested a "personal business day" off — with pay — to attend a course in radar instruction and was refused. He filed his "clarification grievance" with the Board in December.

Bids on a new driver training education car will be opened, the purchase of chairs for the high school auditorium and a ruling on a request from Mrs. Martha Cool for reimbursement of summer school expenses are other discussion items.

Possible action items by the Board include a discussion of changes in the school hot lunch policy, and approval for Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle to recruit special education teachers for the system. The Area Schools recently received a $7,000-plus grant to aid in the recruitment of such teachers.

Supt. Wuehle will also report on the current status of the new Lakeside Elementary School which may be opened sometime in February.

Dynamite Bomb Fails To Ignite

NEW YORK (AP) — A dynamite bomb with a charred fuse was spotted Sunday by a patrolman making a security check of his station house on West 100th Street.

Patrolman John Ausderan, 32, saw four inches of a foot-long fuse hanging out of a brown paper bag which contained five eight-inch sticks of explosives.

Ausderan said he wet his thumb and forefinger and pinched the fuse to make sure no spark remained. A few feet from the bag were two gasoline pumps.

Routine checks of station houses have been made since an explosion last fall that blew out the windows of a station in Harlem. Last month, two homemade bombs were found jammed into the gasoline tanks of patrol cars.

Quakers Stage Peace Reminder

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's boyhood friends of the Quaker faith want to remind him of his commitment to peace.

Silently, 35 persons carrying placards walked in rain Sunday from Whittier High School to Whittier College, five blocks away, where they held a two-hour vigil seeking world peace. Nixon attended both schools.

"As a Quaker, you are aware that for 300 years the Religious Society of Friends has opposed war in any form," the group said in an open letter to Nixon.

Ann Rush, chairman of Quakers for Action, said later the demonstration was "a prayer and a hope for a real beginning of world peace during the term of a Quaker president."

Players de Noc Invite Tryouts

Players de Noc, Inc., Escanaba's little theater group, announces tryouts for its next production "A Doll's House," which will be presented Feb. 27, 28 and March 1. General tryouts for the play are open to all members of the community.

No previous acting experience is necessary, said Mrs. Ronald Lankford, the director, who will conduct tryouts both Tuesday, Jan. 21 and Thursday, Jan. 23 in the student activities center, Bay de Noc Community College, starting at 7:30 p.m.

There are character parts for four men, four women, and two children — a 10-year-old boy and an eight-year-old girl.

"A Doll's House" was written by Henrik Ibsen. Although, after its first appearance, the play was celebrated most for its social theme — the emancipation of women — Ibsen and its modern audiences consider its importance to lie in its concern for the true basis of wider human relationships.

Whether Nora Helmer has the right as a woman to leave her husband is of secondary importance to the significance of her leaving him as an assertion of herself as a seriously thinking, individual human being.

"A Doll's House" shows the development of a woman who awakens to her responsibility as an individual and, as a result, throws off the yoke of subjugation imposed on her by her husband.

Inaugural Address

Nixon Declares 'Times On The Side Of Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon launched his administration today, declaring "the times are on the side of peace" and history beckons America "to help lead the world at last out of the valley of turmoil."

In the text of his inaugural address from the steps of the Capitol, Nixon said that at home the nation faces "a crisis of the spirit" and needs an answer of the spirit.

"We have found ourselves rich in goods but ragged in spirit; reaching with magnificent precision for the moon, but falling into raucous discord here on earth," he said.

The chief executive said the answer to the crisis will be found in such simple virtues as "goodness, decency, love, kindness."

Inflated Rhetoric

In these difficult years, America has suffered from a fever of words," Nixon contended, "from inflated rhetoric that promises more than it could possibly deliver; from angry rhetoric that fans discontents into hatreds, from bombastic rhetoric that postures instead of persuading."

"We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another—until we speak quietly enough so that our words can be heard as well as our voices," he added.

At the same time, Nixon seemed to hint that portions of President Johnson's Great Society programs will be continued.

He promised to "press urgently forward" toward such goals as rebuilding cities, providing better housing, strengthening education, protecting the environment and seeking full employment.

Go Forward

Citing his inaugural motto, Nixon said all must go forward together if any is to advance.

"No man can be fully free while his neighbor is not," he said.

"This means black and white together as one nation, not two," the President declared. "The laws have caught up with our conscience. What remains is to give light to what is in the law: to ensure at last that all are born equal in dignity before God, all are born equal in dignity before man."

Nixon's principal emphasis clearly was on the search for peace.

"For the first time, because the people of the world want peace and the leaders are afraid of war, the times are on the side of peace," he said.

To help make the world safe for mankind, he added, "is our summons to greatness."

Negotiation Era

As in the past, Nixon asserted that "after a period of confrontation, we are entering an era of negotiation. Let all nations know that during this administration our lines of communication will be open. We seek an open world—open to ideas, open to the exchange of goods and people, a world in which no people, great or small, will live in angry isolation."

These words seemed to suggest Nixon will at least consider resuming ties with mainland China and, perhaps, with Communist Cuba.

"We cannot expect to make everyone our friends," he said, "but we can try to make no one our enemy."

Because the nation is strong, he said, it can afford to size up its weaknesses with candor and approach them with hope.

Look Within
"We are caught in war, wanting peace," he said. "We are torn by division, wanting unity. We see around us empty lives, wanting fulfillment. We see tasks that need doing, waiting for hands to do them."

To meet these problems, he continued, "we need only to look within ourselves. Greatness comes in simple trappings. The simple things are the ones most needed today if we are to surmount what divides us and to cement what unites us."

For the government's part, he promised, his administration will listen to the voices of anguish and despair.

He said: "Those who have been left out, we will try to bring in. Those left behind, we will help to catch up."

"For all of our people we will set as our goal the decent order that makes progress possible and our lives secure."

Once again, he emphasized the work of his administration will not involve tearing down in any wholesale fashion the programs of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

But Nixon suggested government's capacity for dealing with many of the major domestic problems is limited.

Noting that in the last third of a century "government has passed more laws, spent more money, initiated more programs, than in all our previous history," Nixon said: "... we are approaching the limits of what government alone can do."

"What has to be done, has to be done by government and people together or it will not be done at all. The lesson of past agony is that without the people we can do nothing; with the people we can do everything."

Employing greater eloquence than usual, Nixon said with the energies of the people enlisted, "we can build a great cathedral of the spirit—each of us raising it one stone at a time, as he reaches out to his neighbor, helping, caring, doing."

Here's To The Jaycees

NATIONAL JAYCEE WEEK • JANUARY 19 TO 26

For 49 years, the Jaycees have been spear-heading projects of community interest. Support the Jaycee activities — it's a step for progress.

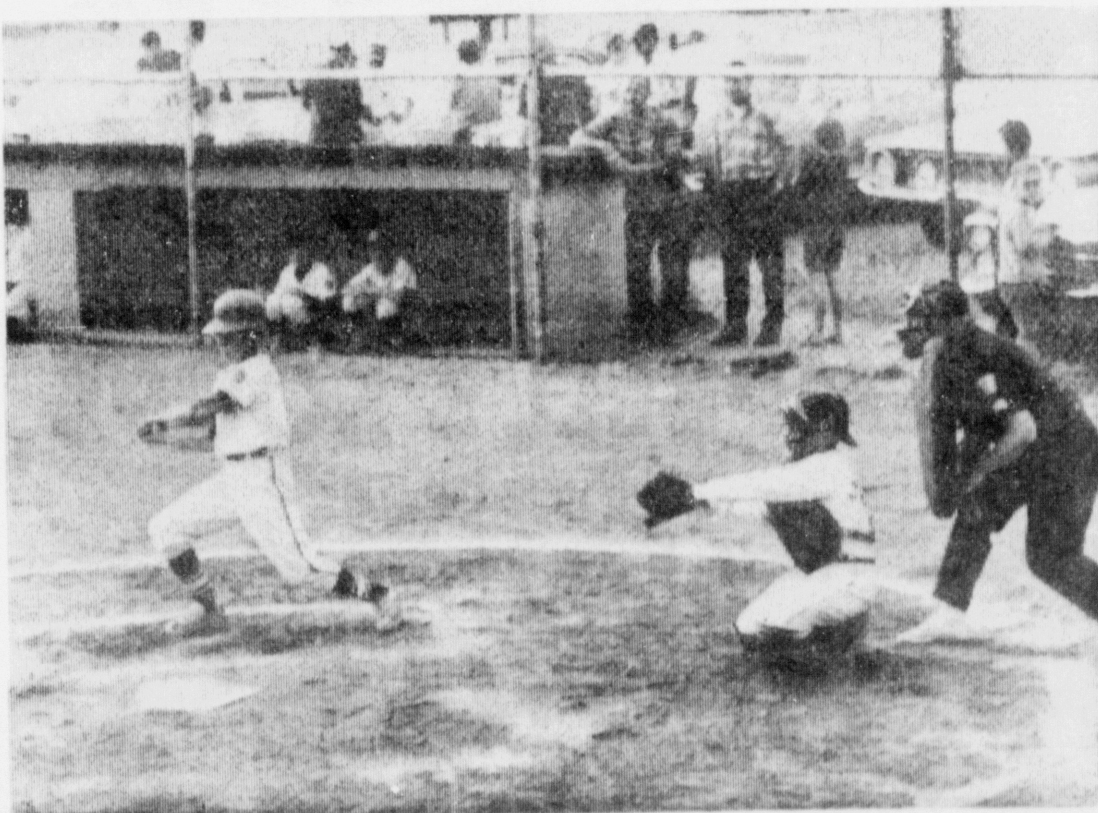

Jaycees are young men for progress. Throughout the year, they demonstrate their interest in making their community better by actively working for a better Escanaba. This is their week, JAYCEE WEEK. In Jaycee organizations across the nation, young men are stepping in to serve. Get behind the Escanaba Jaycees and support their activities. Pictured here are just a few of their projects that they have participated in and sponsored during the past year.

The Delta County Queen contest is always big news . . . and the contest is sponsored by the Jaycees. Pictured are: Queen, Leilani Norton, Nancy Weldum, Suzanne Gannon, Linda Rockburg, Linda Beaudoin, Gail Lippold, Jean Killmar, Michele Cochran, Gayle Pomeroy and Kathleen Groleau.

The Jaycees sponsored a race in cooperation with the U. P. Racing Promoters and the Stock Car Racing Assn. and presented the proceeds ($530.-60) to Mrs. Kenneth Carlson, representing the U. P. Kidney Fund Drive.

The Little League baseball program is another area where Jaycees pitch in. For the past 19 years they have purchased the accident-liability insurance to cover all players and managers.

The Jaycee Creed

We believe:
That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than of men;
That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE JAYCEES

On October 13, 1915, the Young Men's Progressive Civic Association was formed at the Mission Inn in St. Louis, Missouri. The club was the outgrowth of the Herculaneum Dance Club that had been active since 1910. In 1918 the club changed its name to Junior Citizens and the members were eventually referred to the JC's which gave birth to our name, Jaycees. During the forming years, Henry Giessenbier was the one man most responsible for the growth of our organization and he was the first president of The U. S. Jaycees. The ranks of the Junior Citizens were nearly depleted during World War I and when the men returned home, they wanted a greater voice in their communities. They decided to contact young men's groups in other cities and Giessenbier felt that it was time to form the U.S. Jaycees. After much work and many contacts, the United States Jaycees were born at a caucus on January 21 and 22, 1920. In June of that year the first national convention was held. Growth was slow during the depression but the foundation of the organization was strong. After World War II the Jaycees grew rapidly and during this time the idea was conceived for the Jaycee Memorial Headquarters Building. Money was raised from the state organizations and dedication was held in 1951 for a modern Jaycee office building which is located in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Currently there are over 300,000 Jaycees in the U. S. and another 60,000 in 80 countries around the world. Since the time the Junior Citizens worked for the passage of a bond issue in St. Louis the Jaycees have made an outstanding contribution to human progress and community development. The Jaycees have adopted community development as their number one project. They have built thousands of parks, recreation centers, etc., around the country. They have installed over a million sets of seat belts in family cars. They have cleaned up towns, had signal lights installed and caused complete changes in local and county governments. A complete history of Jaycees will never be written. It would have to contain over 40 years of projects participated in by more than 5,000 chapters. This is the Jaycee Story.

American Dream Comes True For Pat Nixon

By JOY MILLER
AP Woman's Editor

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Pat Nixon, the American Dream will be fulfilled when she moves into the White House. It is a Dream, she says, that all Americans can hang on to and make come true for themselves, too.

But being First Lady will also mean taking on one of the toughest jobs—and unpaid, at that—afforded a woman in this country.

Essentially a private and modest woman, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon will live in the public gaze for four years, with her every word and action a matter for discussion in households across America.

First Duty

Her first duty, of course, will be making a home in the historic mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue for her husband and unmarried daughter, Tricia, 22.

More than most men, perhaps, a president needs the comfort and understanding of a devoted wife as he ponders decisions that will make history. Pat Nixon knows it. During the recent presidential campaign she said she thought her greatest contribution to her husband was this: "I don't nag him. The best I can do is cheer him up."

These days, though, the First Ladyship requires of a woman more than domestic tranquility. She must be a hostess of charm and tact and imagination to make the innumerable receptions, parties and state dinners at the White House something Americans can take pride in.

Special Project

And she must have a project, a "thing"—preferably several—that she will pursue indefatigably, for the good of the country.

Her social duties Mrs. Nixon feels she can take in stride. "I've had so-called on-the-job training when Dick was vice president," she has said. During President Eisenhower's illness Dick took his place and I did the First Lady chores then. And whenever Mrs. Eisenhower wasn't feeling well she'd call on me."

As for First Lady projects, Mrs. Nixon gave a good deal of thought to the matter as she crisscrossed the nation on the campaign trail in 1968.

"I have some very good ideas!" she told inquiring reporters, and ticked off the ideas in general terms: quality education for all, massive on-the-job training programs, community self-help undertakings, and youth projects.

Will Keep Busy

"The main idea is that I'd like to assist my husband in what he wants to do. There's so much to be done, I'm sure I'd keep busy."

When someone wondered aloud that maybe her husband might downgrade welfare projects, she spiritedly replied.

"Dick doesn't want to cut off anything, but to give people pride and dignity. Why not be owners of little businesses? Give people a chance to do it. Give tax incentives. Train people for jobs that exist. People have to have dignity and goals; they have to be motivated."

National polls and surveys, she says, have convinced her that there is a large percentage of the citizenry that would volunteer to help improve their communities. "I would like to give support to those and to help spread the program to others."

Mrs. Nixon says she has always tried to look her best, but she deplores what she calls "too much emphasis on glamour in politics in recent years."

Proper Perspective

She believes in wearing the same good suit or coat over and over again in public. Pictures of her doing this very thing recently moved Norman Norell, dean of American designers, to comment approvingly: "She's putting fashion in its proper perspective. A First Lady should not be so enthralled with fashion that she has to wear something different every day."

Likes To Cook

Mrs. Nixon is a practical, sensible, thrifty woman, taking pride in being considered primarily a homemaker. She likes to cook and garden, and she has called herself "old maidish" about keeping a house spotless and everything in its place.

Do For Herself

In the White House the new First Lady will have a large and experienced staff to cope with keeping it tidy. She'll handle the workers with her usual friendly efficiency, but, since she doesn't like people to wait on her ("it is easier to do something for myself," she says), she may have some inner struggles about resisting the urge to move a piece of furniture herself or to whip out a hot iron for a quick touch-up on a dress.

The White House itself Pat Nixon regards almost with awe. "It's historical and beautiful and belongs to the people. I wouldn't tamper with it," she says.

Trenary

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Maki have returned from South Range, Mich., where they attended funeral services for his brother, John Maki, who died at his home in Trimountain on Jan. 14. Funeral services were held at the Jukuri Funeral Home in Hancock on Jan. 16.

William Urbanic Sneaks At Bark River PTA

William Urbanic of Northern Michigan University, Marquette, addressed the Bark River-Harris PTA at the meeting held Wednesday evening in the elementary school. He spoke on the ungraded reading program, how it is set up and how it works. He also talked on the virtues of the report cards used in grades one through six.

Mrs. Harvey Arkens has been appointed new elementary principal to replace the late William Constantineau and Mrs. Edward Motto is the new teacher's aide.

A William Constantineau Memorial Fund has been established by the student body under the direction of Ray Raymond. The PTA will contribute $35 to the fund.

Mrs. Harold Bergquist volunteered to be chairman for the Fluoride Program.

Room count was tied between Mrs. Ahlin's afternoon kindergarten and Mrs. Constantineau's fifth grade. Lunch was served by the 10th grade mothers.

U-M Surgeon In Plane Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A promising young surgeon from Ann Arbor and his wife are among the 38 people aboard a United Airlines plane which crashed and sank in the Pacific Ocean Saturday night.

Victor William Wallin, 30, was a resident and teaching assistant in surgery at the University of Michigan Hospital. He would have been chief resident in surgery at the hospital in the coming year.

Wallin was "a brilliant young man in surgery, carrying out important research in liver function and developing techniques in combating liver failure," said Dr. William Fry, head of the general surgery section at the hospital.

Wallin was a native of Milwaukee. He and his wife were the parents of a 20-month-old daughter, Sarah, who was staying with her maternal grandparents in Champaign, Ill.

Wallin, a 1960 graduate of Princeton University, received his degree from Harvard Medical School in 1964 and has been living in Ann Arbor since.

Wallin, who participated in the National Institute of Health training program as a liver disease researcher, reportedly was combining a vacation with a tour of medical installations in California and Colorado.

He was en route to Denver when the plane went down off Los Angeles.

Bruins Getting Competition For Nation's Best Record

By The Associated Press

UCLA might be having its own way in the college basketball rankings, but the Bruins are getting plenty of competition from Santa Clara and New Mexico State for the team with the best record in the nation.

Third-ranked Santa Clara, raising its record to 16-0 with a 64-49 victory over San Jose State last Saturday, appears headed for an unbeaten season against top-ranked UCLA in the NCAA post-season regional playoffs on the West Coast.

New Mexico State No. 7, continued its steady climb in the rankings with an 80-65 decision over Texas-El Paso for a 15-0 mark.

UCLA is the only other major unbeaten with a 12-0 record as the Bruins buried once-powerful rival Houston 100-64 despite the absence of Lew Alcindor for much of the game.

The Bruins have two dates in Chicago Stadium against Northwestern and Chicago Loyola this weekend before heading into their final 12 games against Pacific 8 conference foes. It would take a colossal upset to keep the Bruins from ending the regular season at 26-0.

Santa Clara is idle this week before going into its last 11 games, and only a similar upset would stop the Bruins from a 27-0 mark.

New Mexico State will have the most difficult time remaining unbeaten in its final 11 contests with two straight meetings coming up against cross-state rival New Mexico after the Aggies host Tennessee Tech Saturday night.

UCLA started slow against Houston, the only team to beat the Bruins in their last 76 games but pulled away from a 36-30 halftime lead, although Alcindor played only 17 minutes and scored eight points. He had been bedridden the previous four days by tonsillitis.

John Vallely, with 18 points, and Bill Sweek, with 14, led the scoring while Sid Wicks took care of the rebounding as UCLA won its 45th in a row at home.

Santa Clara, setting a school record for victories, dropped host San Jose out of a first place tie in the West Coast Athletic Conference with an easy victory as Dennis Awtry hit 10 of 13 from the field for 22 points.

Visiting New Mexico State had a rougher time, overcoming several deficits in the second half before pulling away with 6½ minutes left when Charlie Criss and John Burgess hit baskets for a 64-59 lead. Criss finished with 23 points.

The rest of the Top Ten also posted victories, although some of them were in doubt until the end.

North Carolina, No. 2, held off host Wake Forest 94-89 on Charlie Scott's 26 points, while Davidson, No. 4, needed Dave Mosser's last second jump shot for a 66-64 squeaker over Virginia Military on the road.

Kentucky, No. 5, broke a 58-all tie on Dan Issel's six straight points for a 69-66 triumph over Tennessee at Knoxville. St. John's, No. 6, routed West Virginia 91-62 at home.

Detroit Pershing Coach Suffers Unending Vigil

Detroit (NEA) — The telephone rang five times before Will Robinson decided to answer it.

"Hello? . . . Yes, yes, I've got a 6-3 guard . . . Pretty good student . . . Low B's . . . Fine shooter . . . Good leader . . . Yes, I'll send you his transcript . . . The address again?"

Will Robinson hung up and smiled. "Everyone," he said, "wants my kids." But nobody wants Will Robinson.

He is the head basketball coach at Pershing High School. He has dipped into the ghettos of Detroit for basketball players. He has produced Spencer Haywood, Mel Daniels, Dorrie Murray, Willie Iverson and hundreds of others.

He is regarded in college circles as one of the finest high school basketball coaches in the country. His goal in life has always been to coach at a major university, and, ultimately, in the pros. He says he'll never get the chance.

Will Robinson is a Negro. He is 55 years old, slight of build, intense by nature and somewhat bitter. He has won more games and state titles and Coach of the Year awards than any high school coach in the Midwest, and probably, in the nation. He says he has won everything there is to win on the prep school level.

Yet he stays at Pershing High.

"Almost every day these college coaches call me," he says, "trying to get my players. I've sent kids to big colleges and small ones, all over the country. Yet when these same schools have an opening for a coach, I never hear a word."

Will Robinson says that the

world just isn't ready yet for a Negro head coach in major college basketball.

"The Negro player is a hot commodity. All those big colleges want Negro players because they win with them. But the Negro coach? Forget it. It'll be quite a while before you can see one. Ten years maybe."

Still Will Robinson waits.

His vigil is interrupted only by the workings of his private underground, which furnishes colleges with players every year. He finds his players on the ghetto playgrounds, polishes their skills and sends them off with scholarships. Every player at Pershing High can get a scholarship if Will Robinson says he's worthy of one.

"Most colleges will take a fringe-line player one year so they can get a star player the next. The superstars like Haywood and Daniels are the ones they're really after. The others I push in the direction I feel they'll do the most good. I'll never send a kid to college, however, if he doesn't have a chance academically."

"Spencer Haywood wasn't ready for major college work when he graduated, so I sent him to junior college. He matured as a student that year. Now he's doing well academically at Detroit. It's all a matter of knowing the capabilities of every kid with whom you come in contact. Once you know what they can do, guiding them is easy."

Playing for Will Robinson is not easy. His practice sessions in the dimly-lit, time-worn gymnasium at Pershing High are conducted in an icy atmosphere. No nonsense, no visitors, no mistakes. Those who miss an easy layup, or pass to the wrong man, or let up on defense are summoned to mid-court where they are admonished. Usually it includes a lash across their backsides by the two leather straps hanging from Will Robinson's wrist.

"It stings for a few seconds," Will Robinson says, "then they forget all about it and go back to playing. I'm not being sadistic when I do it, I'm just trying to make a point. I'm civilizing them. Anyone who ever played for me, has been stung. But they learned and that's the object."

The telephone rang again. Will Robinson crushed out a cigarette and answered in unemotionally.

"Hello? . . . Yes, that's me . . . Sorry, but he's going to Michigan . . . No, no . . . There's little chance of swaying him one way . . . Maybe next year I can help you . . . Thanks for calling anyway."

He hung up and shrugged his shoulders. It was another typical call. There were no inquiries, of course, about the future of Will Robinson.

two goals by Ab McDonald carried the torrid Blues, runaway leaders in the West, past Minnesota. It was St. Louis' 17th successive game against West Division opposition without a loss.

Billy Hicke and Mike Laughton each scored two goals and added two assists, helping Oakland regain second place in the West and top its 1968-69 victory total of 15 by one.

In Saturday's games, Montreal trimmed Chicago 3-1, Boston downed Philadelphia 5-3, Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 4-0, New York tied St. Louis 2-2 and Detroit played Toronto to a 1-1 standoff.

State College Cagers Have Wild Weekend

By The Associated Press

Olivet netted 12 of 15 free throws in the second of two overtime periods to score a 98-88 come-from-behind victory over Alma during an exciting weekend of college basketball action that featured many close games.

Alma led for the entire game until Olivet tied it up with 1:37 to go in the final half and went on to win on foul shooting in the second overtime period.

In other small college cage action, Oakland University beat Hillsdale 77-74, Albion edged Adrian 91-90, Northwestern Institute shaded Lake Superior State 91-89 in one overtime, Kalamazoo defeated Hope 81-79 in overtime, Eastern Michigan beat Ball State of Indiana 86-79, Michigan Lutheran torpedoed National College of Illinois 107-62, Ferris State defeated St. Procopius of Illinois 87-80, Cleveland State beat Wayne State 68-60, Aquinas defeated Grand Valley 85-76 and Minnesota Morris fought off a Michigan Tech comeback effort to win 87-84.

Jeff Culp scored 29 points for Hillsdale but it wasn't enough to prevent Oakland from taking charge of the Chargers. John Eley scored 19 points for the winners in the nonconference game.

Gary Rank hit a foul shot with a second to go to give Albion its MIAA victory over Adrian. Mike Wilson was high man for Albion with 29 points and Adrian's Greg Dorow had 28.

Northwood Institute broke an 86-86 deadlock in overtime in their Michigan Collegiate Conference game. Bill Oates had 32 points for Northwood, while Randy Fochesato was Lake Superior's high man with 18.

Kalamazoo scored first in overtime to defeat Hope in an MIAA game. Kalamazoo's high man was Don Laskoski with 20 points. Ken Hendrix netted 19 for Hope.

Eastern Michigan pulled ahead of Ball State of Indiana after a 40-40 halftime tie. The Hurons were led by Harvey Marlatt with 27 points, while Ball State's top scorers were Barry Kennedy and Marzine Moore with 19 each.

Michigan Lutheran College continued its rampage with 107-62 stomp over National College of Illinois, stretching its record to 15-1. Eddie Jenkins led the Lutheran effort with 36 points, while National's high man was John Brown with 17.

Ferris State ran its season record to 9-2 with its victory over St. Procopius of Illinois. Art Tetzlaff led the Bulldogs' winning effort with 27 points. Greg Patock was high man for the Eagles with 22.

Cleveland State took a lead early in the first half and never relinquished it, defeating Wayne State 68-60. Guard Mike Campbell scored 24 points to spearhead the effort.

Aquinas College controlled the boards and took an 85-76 win from Grand Valley in a nonconference game. Aquinas pulled down 52 rebounds to Grand Valley's 28. Ed Crisman led the Aquinas effort with 25 points.

Michigan Tech dissolved a 19 point disadvantage in the first half of a Northern Intercollegiate Conference game with Minnesota Morris, but narrowly failed to repeat the trick in the second half to lose the contest. Mike Tate led Morris scoring with 38 points. Tech's high man was Bill Artis with 27 points.

In Memoriam

Franks

In memory of our beloved father and grandfather, Adolph Franks, who passed away three years ago today, January 20, 1966.

Life does not seem the same since you are called away. The blow was hard, the shock severe. Our hearts still ache with pain. Our eyes shed many a tear. God only knows how we miss you. At the end of these sad years. Time cannot heal our aching hearts.

Nor from our memory tear. The form and face we loved so well. Will dwell forever there. No one knows the heartaches. Only those who lost can tell. Of the grief that is borne in silence. For the one we loved so well. You are not forgotten. Father Dear. Nor will you ever be. While life and memory last. We will remember thee. In our home is a vacant place. And we often speak of you. And how happy we would be. If you were with us, too.

Sadly Missed and Lovingly Remembered by his Children and Grandchildren

Hijack 2 More Jets To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — A young man clutching a Dominican Republic passport hurdled another passenger and ran "like a football player, dodging from tourist to first class" before grabbing a stewardess and forcing an Eastern Airlines jet to Cuba. It was one of two hijackings Sunday that took 257 persons to Havana.

The Eastern jet—hijacked as it neared the end of its New York-to-Miami flight—and all but one of its 163 passengers flew on to Miami during the night.

An Ecuadorian prop-jet carrying 81 persons was seized by four men armed with submachine guns and remained in Cuba. There was no explanation why Cuban authorities, who cite safety in refusing to allow big jets to leave with passengers aboard, detained the smaller prop-jet.

These were the sixth and seventh commercial airliners hijacked to Cuba in 18 days. Another airliner was hijacked to Egypt.

Most passengers on the Eastern jet returned to Miami early today aboard two prop-jets sent to Varadero, Cuba, to get them. They told newsmen the young hijacker had given no indication that he planned to seize the plane before leaving his seat.

and grabbing stewardess Pamela Gates of Syracuse, N.Y. "He had to jump over me, and he kicked me," said Gladys Scheck of New York City. She sat next to the hijacker and spoke to him briefly. "He just told me he came from Santo Domingo."

Another passenger, Charles Suskind of Brooklyn, N.Y., said the hijacker "got up and he looked like he was sick to me. He ran like a football player, dodging from tourist to first class, and then he grabbed a stewardess."

The man used Miss Gates as a hostage to enter the cockpit. He spoke only Spanish, but stewardess Joan Toumoli of Edgewater, N.J., translated for him.

Capt. R.D. Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the hijacker held "what appeared to be a hand grenade. The thing had a little cap with a little handle down and he had the handle squeezed."

Warn Operators Of Snowplows

LANSING (AP)— Push snow someplace other than onto state highways, the State Highway Department has asked private operators of snow plows and other snow removal equipment. "Serious injury could result from a collision with piled snow or from a collision with oncoming traffic if a motorist tries to avoid the snow," says Paul J. Marek, maintenance engineer.

As usual, the major revenue producer will be individual income taxes, and the largest chunk of the outlay will go to national defense. National defense gets 41 cents out of every dollar spent. Of that 41 cents, 13 is spent on the Vietnam War. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Import Buying Strong In Overheated Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — "This overheated economy just sucked imports in all over the place," said the Treasury official to the House-Senate subcommittee.

In this one simple sentence did Frederick Deming, Treasury undersecretary, speak of a situation that is: 1. In the news almost every day; 2. Considered dangerous by many experts; 3. All but impossible to understand.

What Deming meant by his statement, made last week, was that the excess of demand and money in the United States was making imported goods not only desirable but purchasable—which is bad for the balance of payments.

Seldom In Balance
This problem has been with us for 11 years now and with each discussion it seems to get more complex and tangled. For many people its mere mention on a newspaper page is reason enough to turn to the crossword puzzle.

Simply stated, a country has a balance of payments when the money it sends or spends abroad equals that brought into the country by foreigners. Seldom is it really in balance, however. Generally there is a surplus or deficit.

Now any country is liable at some time or another to be in a deficit condition, because it is impossible for the world's nations to perfectly balance their spending and buying.

However, when a nation runs up deficits for 11 years the other countries begin to worry. They see themselves with too many dollars and wonder if it might not be safer to have gold instead. And so they trade their dollars for gold.

This is the dangerous aspect of the balance—really the imbalance—of payments situation. If confidence is lost in the dollar it can be catastrophic for world trade, for the dollar is still the most acceptable means of exchange.

Favorable Balance
What makes the dangerous situation critical is that inflation in the United States has a double impact on this imbalance.

Deming aptly described the situation as "miserable." Just a year ago the country had more than $4 billion in surplus. And just four years ago some $6 billion more goods were sold than bought.

But, you say, this still leaves the United States with a balance in its favor. Yes, a balance of trade, but trade is only one aspect of the balance of payments. Not all the money that goes in and out of a nation is trade.

The United States, for example, supports a costly war, in Vietnam, thousands of troops in Europe, spends money in aiding less developed nations. In addition, corporations spend on foreign investments.

The result of all factors has been an imbalance in payments for 11 years. This past year, because foreign money was attracted to the U.S. stock markets, and because of restrictions on foreign investments, the first surplus since 1957 was reached.

The worries continue, however. What would happen if restrictions on foreign investments were lifted? And of even greater importance, what happens if inflation cannot be controlled and continues to suck in foreign goods?
